OUR LEARNING CENTERS

EOCF serves children and families in Clark, Cowlitz and Pacific Counties. Head Start, Early Head Start, and the Early Childhood Education and Assistance Programs serve children in full-day, full-year, full-day school-year, and part-day, part-year programs. EOCF offers an AM/PM model at most centers, offering Head Start in the morning and ECEAP in the afternoon. EOCF also works with several partner sites/subcontractors within the communities where we serve.

Educational Opportunities for Children and Families (EOCF) is in our 51st year of operation. We continue to be the leading provider of comprehensive early childhood education and family support programs in Southwest Washington. As one of the largest social service organizations in Southwest Washington, EOCF continues to focus on expanding the numbers of families that we provide quality comprehensive early learning and childcare services to in SW Washington. EOCF serves more than 1,500 children and families annually in our federal and state early learning programs. Another 2,000 children are served in the HotShots Youth Sports program for children grades 1-6. EOCF's service areas include Clark County, Long Beach in Pacific County, and the Woodland portion of Cowlitz County.

EOCF is fortunate to have strong community support. We receive state and federal funding that allows us to provide early learning for children birth to age five; however, it takes an additional mandatory $1.6 million in community donations of cash and other in-kind goods and services to operate. Therefore, our community partnerships are essential. We are extremely grateful for our dedicated families, partners, community members, Board of Directors, Parent Policy Council and staff for their ongoing support.

EOCF continues to collaborate through community partnerships to seek classroom facilities in neighborhoods with the most need and to position the agency for additional expansion of the state's Early Childhood Education and Assistance Program (ECEAP) in 2018 and beyond.

vision and dental. Children referred are not receiving the necessary follow-up from providers or specialists in a timely manner for children to receive needed treatment plans. Developmental concerns continue, but less than half of the children referred last program year received an evaluation from their Lead Education Agency (LEA) and had an Individualized Education or Family Services Plan (IEP or IFSP) put into place before the next program year. EOCF strives to support families in attaining their children's annual well-child and dental exams, with a goal of having at least 90% documented for each program.

When completing the Family Outcomes Assessment, families indicated they wanted support or information regarding support, and the data shows a continuing high percentage of family referrals to external agencies. The top support requests from families this year were family activities in the community, clothing resources, food resources, health and dental providers, housing, English Language Learners, and legal information support.

Engaging the Entire Family

EOCF believes families are experts in their experience and should lead engagement in areas of interest. EOCF classrooms/sites provide a minimum of four events each year to bring parents, children and staff together. This strengthens the process of how staff engage families in planning events and ensures events are inclusive of cultural and familial values.

EOCF Activities and Events promote areas of our Family and Community Engagement Framework. The most prominent area is family well-being, which focuses on the immediate needs of the family. EOCF families identified these as areas of highest need and had the most requested referrals.

Head Start and Early Childhood Education and Assistance Program

EOCF operates two programs serving children ages 3-5, the federally-funded Head Start program and the Washington State-funded Early Childhood Education and Assistance Program (ECEAP). The goal of these programs is to prepare children for entry into K-12 system. EOCF actively recruits families whose income is at 110% of the federal poverty level or lower and children with disabilities and/or special needs. Programs provide education for children and families, ongoing assessments, opportunities to strengthen the home-to school connection, comprehensive healthcare, family engagement activities, access and referrals to community resources, and 1/3 to 2/3 of children's daily nutritional needs.

EOCF's Head Start programs received funding for 520 children and families, and Early Childhood Education and Assistance program received funding for 502 children and families. EOCF served a total of 671 Head Start Children, and 652 ECEAP (Early Childhood Education and Assistance Program) Children. Our part-day classrooms served 496 total children, 67 were served in full-day childcare classrooms, and 145 total children were served in Home-based services.

EARLY HEAD START

Early Head Start is a federally-funded program offering home-based and center-based models for pregnant women and low-income families with infants and toddlers (ages birth-to-three). Enrolled families work with staff to develop a plan that is driven by family identified strengths, needs, resources, and goals. The program's mission is to promote healthy prenatal outcomes for pregnant women, enhance the development of very young children, and promote healthy family functioning by focusing on relationship building. EOCF received funding for 96 children and families and provided services to 154.

OUR SPECIAL JOURNEY

My name is Stephanie Wick; my son, Jackson, attended Head Start preschool at Educational Opportunities for Children and Families for two school years at the MacArthur site in Vancouver, Clark County, WA, beginning in September 2016. Jackson is diagnosed with high-functioning Autism Spectrum Disorder and Sensory Integration Disorder.

For Jackson's first year at EOCF, he attended four half-days a week. Jack struggled significantly with social skills in his first few months at school. His teacher and family advocate informed me about lectures offered by the Swindells Resource Center in our community, that focus on helping families with special needs kids. I was able to attend several lectures and share the information I learned with his teachers. We strategized how to help Jack overcome sensory issues and enter into play. By the end of the school year, Jack was able to take a deep breath to self-calm, say phrases like "I have an idea!" or "What do you think?" to enter into play, and make friends.

His second year at Head Start was in a duration class, five and a half-hour days, five days per week. He successfully transitioned to the increase in time, and with minor accommodation participated fully in the classroom. He overcame obstacles that neurotypical people take for granted, like being able to sit in a different place at the lunch table, or thinking, "I need a pencil," and going to get it and come back to task, without getting distracted and needing the teacher to redirect him. In academics, Jack is gifted. He left EOCF able to read, count to 100, add numbers under twenty, and was considered to be academically ready for second grade.

Jack began kindergarten, in a general education setting, with only a 504 Plan instead of an IEP, and he's doing great. I can only imagine where we would be without EOCF. We were denied access to the developmental preschool offered by the Vancouver School District. It was overcrowded, and they were only serving children with two severe developmental delays. Jack's diagnosis of autism and one severe speech delay were not enough for them to help us. If we had not been able to access early learning opportunities at EOCF, I think Jack would be entering kindergarten in a self contained classroom with a one-to-one para educator.

In addition to helping my son grow, EOCF also helped me. I joined the Parent Policy Council. It was my first opportunity to serve on a board and learn about how EOCF collected data on the children and families, and then applied changes to the program to increase positive outcomes for the families. For example, they tracked how many children went to the dentist.

My first year serving on PC, the numbers for dental exams were a bit low. The second year, EOCF partnered with SeaMar and brought a dentist to school orientation to do the exams while EOCF checks the children's vision, hearing, and social/emotional evaluations, resulting in a much higher percentage of children completing their dental exams. At every meeting we were given updates on program goals and projects by the director, reviewed the budget and compared projected expenses to actual expenses to ensure we were on track financially, and approved new hires by EOCF. I also participated in reviewing applications and interviews with Human Resources, and in Nutrition meetings to contribute to the meal planning for the following academic year.

During my second year on Parent Policy Council, EOCF supported my participation in the Washington State Association of Head Start and ECEAP Parent Ambassador program. I have been sent to conferences around the state to learn advocacy for early learning, including a conference on Parent Leadership in addition to the four conferences included in the Parent Ambassador program. I partnered with several EOCF employees to bring a psychologist, to give a lecture on fostering friendships, to the teacher preservice this past August. It was one of the lectures I attended by the Swindells Resource Center that I found the most helpful. EOCF connected me with learning opportunities in my community to help my child, supported my advocacy training, and allowed me to give back by bringing those services to the program teachers.

They have been serving our community for over fifty years, and I hope they have as many more years to help at-risk preschoolers become successful students.

Sincerely,

Stephanie Wick

HotShots Youth Sports

HotShots Youth Sports provides basketball programs for Clark County youth grades 1-6, under the direction of Shannon LeBlé, Program Director. HotShots' philosophy promotes children having fun while playing sports. Children also learn the importance of teamwork, instruction, fair play, and sportsmanship. Approximately 250 teams involving 2,000 children competed during the fall, winter, and spring basketball seasons, primarily from the Vancouver and Evergreen School District areas. Scholarships may be granted upon request to ensure that income is not a barrier to participation.

Community Support Enhances EOCF's Programs

Community involvement is vital to the success of children and families. The federal Office of Head Start (HS) mandates that all HS grantees obtain in-kind annually. Therefore, EOCF is required to secure $1.6 million worth of donated goods and services annually. Although the communities where EOCF serves are well known for their volunteerism and philanthropy, this goal continues to be challenging. Parents with enrolled children volunteer in the classroom, organize events, serve on Parent Policy Council, secure donations and advocate for early learning in our communities and to our legislators. Community members donate their time and expertise by serving on our Board of Directors, Friends of EOCF and committees. Many help build playgrounds or plan, attend and contribute to fundraisers. EOCF provides Donations are tax deductible according to law internships for college students whose longterm service is an important addition to our classrooms, as are Washington Reading Corps/ AmeriCorps service members. Community organizations generously give grants and sponsorships. All volunteers and donations are greatly appreciated! We invite you to join in the rewarding experience of strengthening children and families at EOCF.

We are always looking for:

KINDERGARTEN READINESS

Preparing our students for kindergarten and beyond begins with ensuring that our student goals align with the Head Start Child Development Early Learning Framework, Washington State Early Learning Guidelines, local public and private school programs and in concert with the families we serve. Head Start's definition of readiness is "children possessing the skills, knowledge and attitudes necessary for success in school and for later learning and life."

It is in this spirit that EOCF plans measurement strategies, tools, timelines and processes for implementing results. Data is aggregated using the early childhood assessment tools that include the CLASS Assessment Scoring System, Teaching Strategies GOLD/My Teaching Strategies, and the Infant Toddler/Early Childhood Environmental Rating Scales. Analysis informs decisions for children's growth, as well as for staff professional development. Our data is compiled using a variety of pre-determined aggregates such as program-wide, Dual Language Learners, by age, by classroom model and by individual student. Data is reviewed by staff and families to inform planning and instructional strategies. Health, nutrition, social/emotional and developmental needs are addressed and met to help children be able and ready to learn.

On a larger scale, this data also guides our decisions for continuous classroom and program improvements, professional development, training, and financial and management systems. The graph below represents students' percentage of growth and development within the six domains shown that demonstrate school readiness. Fall 2017 is our baseline and it is compared with spring 2018. The growth of students is well documented.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The EOCF Board of Directors shares program governance functions with the Parent Policy Council. The board is a continuing volunteer body, made up of community citizens who have an interest in, and a commitment to, an oversight role and to serving as fiduciary agents. The board's membership represents the business, legal, educational, and social services communities of EOCF's service area. It also has representatives who are parents of children currently or formerly served by EOCF.

EOCF PARENT POLICY COUNCIL

EOCF Parent Policy Council shares program governance functions with the Board of Directors. EOCF Parent Policy Council is an opportunity for parents with children enrolled in Early Head Start, Head Start, or ECEAP to assist in major program planning, policy, and decision-making. Parents who are elected to policy council by fellow parents are able to advocate for the best interest of their child and family while gaining transferable professional skills.
